Computer Engineering Program
http://www.ce.ucsb.edu

Computer Engineering is an undergraduate program and a research focus that is composed of a group of faculty that spans two departments: Electrical & Computer Engineering (ECE) and Computer Science (CS). The CE program has a focus on the design of computer and communication systems. Students learn a mixture of hardware design and software concepts. They gain experience on both sides of the traditional hardware/software "fence" and have unique capabilities in the creation and interfacing of computer systems with the real-world.
